Messe Düsseldorf Asia

The basis for doing business successfully in Asia is guan xi.

After a decade of organizing trade shows in Southeast Asia, we can only come to one conclusion: the dynamism of development in this part of Asia is incredible. There's no doubt that the Southeast Asian countries – particularly Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, Vietnam and Indonesia – will continue their remarkable economic growth into the future.

Messe Düsseldorf Asia provides a platform you can use to benefit from the possibilities offered by this region. These are opportunities that will continue to multiply once you decide to explore them.

The success of our trade shows in this region can be directly attributed to our knowledge of the markets, to the fact that we have the right kind of people working to represent our trade shows, and because our customers believe in our product. The contacts and the trust that we have established within the community form the basis for future growth that promise to be marked by even greater staying power.

Maintaining relationships is at the very heart of doing business in Asia. This is one of the most important conditions for successfully carving out your spot in this part of the world. Because a large share of companies are family run, and companies make investment decisions based on relationships, guan xi – which means “personal connections” or “relationships” – represents the foundation for your interaction with prospective customers or partners in Southeast Asia. Once this relationship is established and you've gained the customer's trust, business transactions start to flow naturally. We at Messe Düsseldorf Asia have always carefully maintained guan xi, and will continue to do so – carefully handling our relationships with our partners and clients from industry, and the relationships they have with each other.

Our highest priority is meeting and exceeding the expectations of our clients. To do this, we continuously strive to think outside the box. We put your interests first, and listen to what you say you need. Let's work together to achieve even greater things in this region.

Gernot Ringling
Managing Director, Messe Düsseldorf Asia

Clear visions for the future.

As one of the most successful trade show organizers in the world, Messe Düsseldorf has been working intensely for over a decade to develop the Asian trade show market, particularly in the region of Southeast Asia. Our goal of bringing international exhibitors into closer contact with Southeast Asian buyers was set in motion in 1995 with the founding of Messe Düsseldorf Asia in Singapore.

Having started out focused on the west, MDA trade shows have blossomed over the past ten years into international trade show events. A growing number of Asian exhibitors utilize the trade shows of MDA to present their products to customers from the region. Today, more than 50 percent of the exhibitors at MDA events are Asian. We consider the trust that this brings us – and the good reputation we enjoy in the region – as proof that we have taken the right path. Events presented by Messe Düsseldorf Asia are viewed in the region and for special target markets as the ideal marketing platform.

Messe Düsseldorf Asia in Singapore represents the hub of Messe Düsseldorf's activities in the region. This includes organization of trade shows throughout all of Southeast Asia, presenting the shows while maintaining the highest standards of professionalism, and achieving the greatest possible benefit for all of our clients.

Regional trade shows are the most effective and efficient way to gain direct access to the markets of Asia. A well-organized trade show focuses the attention of the region on the entire market, and creates the perfect platform for creating and expanding business contacts.

Establishing dialogue with potential partners and maintaining personal discussions and intensive contacts are human factors still play an important role within Asia today. This is where Messe Düsseldorf Asia comes into play.

Southeast Asia is highly faceted and multicultural. The presence of an internationally trained, multicultural exhibition team at MDA ensures world-class trade shows at every location in the region – whether it's Bangkok, Kuala Lumpur or Ho Chi Minh City. To our clients – companies that seize opportunity when it comes along, and that want to address industry professionals in targeted trade shows for specific industries – we offer a true springboard wherever they accompany us.

What can we do for you? The best conditions for doing good business.

As a trade show organizer with a complete range of services, we offer an extensive program of international trade shows with a focus on machine and plant engineering, and medicine and health care. With Singapore as the center of our activities, we are well established in Southeast Asia as one of the leading and most influential trade show organizers in the region.

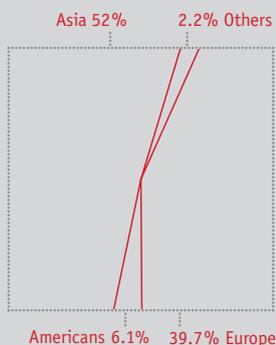

Creating new markets with expertise. This is why the clear strategy for Messe Düsseldorf is to establish leading international trade shows in Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand and Vietnam. Highly recognized trade show brands are also an important basis for business in Asia. Messe Düsseldorf stands for these strong brands with a network of branch offices and partners around the globe. With professional management. With skillful coordination of all aspects of trade show organization. With careful maintenance of close cooperation with international partners from industry and commerce associations and organizations. And with the local team in Singapore that possesses in-depth knowledge of the region.

Innovative motivation. We provide a powerful motivating force with our trade show events in Southeast Asian locations. For international vendors, the motivation is access to booming markets.

The results of our work up to now has shown that the events presented by Messe Düsseldorf are well received and well visited – both by exhibitors from all over the world and by regional customers and visitors.

Messe Düsseldorf Asia is continuing on the successful course it has set, and is further expanding its network of successful trade shows in the major cities of the region. In other words, we're doing what were good at: creating new opportunities for people to make contact with each other.

Exceeding your expectations with commitment.

All the activities of Messe Düsseldorf Asia are aimed at making your participation as a trade show exhibitor or visitor pay off for you. The entire team stays focused on one goal: offering a valuable platform for market access at all trade shows.

We go all out to make the best contacts. MDA works intensely in advance of trade shows to achieve ideal business conditions for exhibitors and visitors. An extensive sales-promotion program that includes advertising, direct mail, business matching and industry presentations, ensures that the right target groups are reached. This results in trade shows that are custom-tailored for networking, interaction and the exchange of experience and ideas, and produces opportunities to gain customers through personal contact and to build positive relationships with prospective customers – a basic precondition for doing business successfully in Southeast Asia.

You can rely on our service. We can help ease your mind when you plan to exhibit at a trade show on another con-continent. Messe Düsseldorf offers a wide range of services that take the load off of you and gives you the time to concentrate on your business. Messe Düsseldorf Asia provides on-site support with hotel reservations and travel services, and with stand construction and technical support. You can let us take care of any necessary translations and the creation of advertising materials. And with catering, we make sure your guests are presented with a mouthwatering array of specialties from all regions.

Skyline of Singapore

Asia is the continent of great opportunities.

Asia is where you'll find 60% of the world's population. The continent produces one-third of the gross world product and 50 percent of international trade, making it one of the most attractive markets in the world.

The sub region of Southeast Asia offers enormous potential, and is one of the most promising markets for export-oriented businesses. With a population of about 580 million people, Southeast Asia is also one of the highest-growth regions of the world. Key markets such as Thailand, Malaysia, Vietnam and Singapore have marked up consistent average growth in gross national product of between 5 and 6 percent.

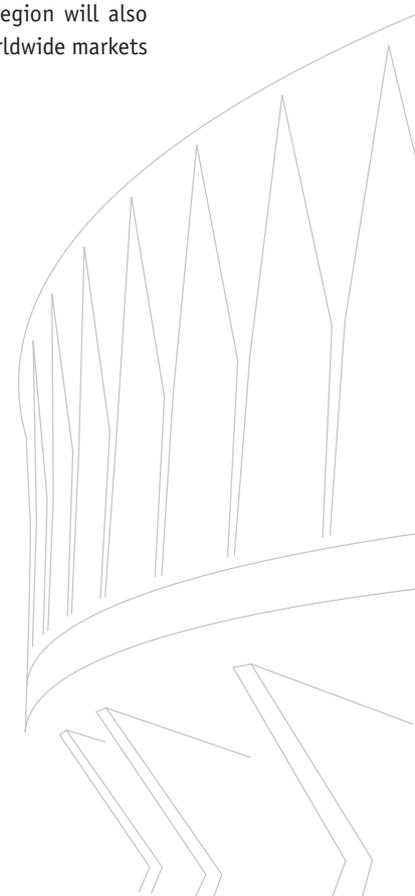

An enormous potential for development. Integration of the national economic areas into a regional market and a single production basis means Southeast Asia is becoming an even more dynamic and powerful part of the world's supply chain. This step will give a significant boost to the competitiveness of the region, and will open additional opportunities for doing business. The region will also continue to play an important role when it comes to supplying worldwide markets such as China with high-quality finished goods.

Global Networking
Cooperation model for ASEAN

As a trade show organizer, Messe Düsseldorf Asia takes advantage of all the opportunities offered by the positive changes in Southeast Asia's business landscape. That's why we work hand-in-hand with partners from the industry to develop trade shows in this part of the world that match the needs of the various markets. We organize trade shows wherever the market is – whether that means Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore or Vietnam.

We'll show you the way to new markets. Events presented by Messe Düsseldorf Asia help you gain access to the most promising markets in Southeast Asia. Along with the growth in interregional trade grows the demand for integration of production and processing. The need for new products, services and technology is constantly rising.

Messe Düsseldorf GmbH has adapted the successful concept of leading trade shows for the Asian market in Southeast Asia for precisely this reason. But the commitment goes further. If the need for a trade show with a specific focus arises within a special market such as Vietnam, we develop the event according to the specific requirements of the market.

If you would you like to improve your opportunities for doing business in Southeast Asia, you should definitely take advantage of the opportunities for development that Messe Düsseldorf Asia opens up for you.

The realm of the tiger – the ASEAN nations as the business location of the future.

The member countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations:

- > Brunei
- > Cambodia
- > Indonesia
- > Laos
- > Malaysia
- > Myanmar
- > Philippines
- > Singapore
- > Thailand
- > Vietnam

What makes the ASEAN nations such an interesting prospect for business? Companies operating internationally can find optimal conditions for long-term success throughout the Southeast Asian economic area.

The Southeast Asian region is particularly interesting for medium-sized companies – both in the selection of a location for industrial production and as a potential market for the sale of products.

The stable political situation in the ASEAN countries has a direct impact on the economic performance of these nations. That's the reason experts predict a sustained growth of the gross national product of between 4 to 6 percent. Per-capita income is growing steadily and leading to greater purchasing power in the regional markets – demand that can be met by innovative products.

The economic region offers top conditions for production and trade. Infrastructure is consistently adapted to the requirements for business.

Singapore – the springboard for Southeast Asia. The location of Messe Düsseldorf Asia is a perfect example of the development standards of the ASEAN nations. The city state offers ideal conditions and an outstanding infrastructure for doing business and presenting trade shows. Thanks to its strategic location, Singapore serves as a focal point and an entryway to Southeast Asia.

Outstanding connections. Singapore is linked with 182 cities in 57 countries by more than 4,000 flights a week – making it one of the most well-connected cities in the world in terms of airline connections. The airport is among the most modern in the world, and received a total of 18 awards in 2003, including Best Airport in the World from Business Traveller.

Singapore is also the perfect place for re-exporting goods. The world's biggest harbor for freight connects the country with 600 harbors in 124 countries. About 200 shipping lines run to Singapore, providing an annual turnover of more than 18 million TEU.

Companies doing business in Singapore can also rely on the western-oriented legal system, which is based on English common law. This system creates legal security for companies, including clear protection of copyright.

Multicultural variety in Asia.

Thailand, Bangkok in particular is the gateway to the markets of Indochina for companies doing business internationally. The country is known for its strengths in the electronics and automotive industries. The country also offers exhibitors and visitors many regional opportunities.

Malaysia continues to show impressive economic growth and is highly attractive to foreign investors. The country profits from its wealth of natural resources and raw materials, and is one of the most politically stable nations in the region. The Petronas Towers in Kuala Lumpur, headquarters of the Petronas oil group, are emblems of growing prosperity. The nation is one of the world leaders in outsourcing, and has again become more interesting as an important, export-oriented manufacturing base.

Vietnam has ambitious goals for developing growth. The course of reform in the country has provided increasing industrial production and growing demand in the technology sector, particularly in electronic components.

We'll guide you on your way to new markets. Southeast Asia was destined to become a first-class starting point for development of the Asia-Pacific area, with its unique mixture of the various population groups in this region and their cultural and economic influence, tied to their geographic position. The team from Messe Düsseldorf Asia lives and works in this fascinating environment – and supports clients with extensive expertise and sensitivity for the special cultural aspects of each individual market in this highly varied region. You can rely on what we've been able to establish over the past years and on guan xi – best connections, from person to person.
